

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy describes how your personal information is collected, used, and shared when you visit <https://www.avalon-photog.com> (our "Site"), or communicate with us through the Site.

Throughout this Privacy Policy, the terms "We," "Us," and "Our" (whether capitalized or not) refer to Avalon Photography, LLC ("Avalon"). The terms "You" or "Your" (whether capitalized or not) refer to you as a visitor to our Site.

1. Notice for Users Outside the United States of America

This Site is designed and intended solely for use by residents of the United States, including those residing in U.S. Territories. If you reside outside the U.S., please do not access the Site as we do not track data protection rules of other nations and cannot comply with other nations' privacy protections.

2. Information We Collect

When you visit this Site, we automatically collect certain information to help us display web pages correctly. This information may include your browser type, IP address, time zone, language preference and information about cookies installed on your device.

To assist in our marketing efforts, we also collect information about the website or search terms that referred you to the Site and about the individual web pages you view. We refer to this automatically collected information as "Device Information."

We may collect Device Information using the following technologies:

- "Cookies" are data files that are placed on your device or computer and often include an anonymous unique identifier. For more information about cookies, and how to disable cookies, visit All About Cookies.org.
- "Log Files" track actions occurring on our Site, and collect data including your IP address, browser type, Internet service provider, referring/exit pages, and date/time stamps.
- "Web beacons," "tags," and "pixels" are electronic files used to record information about how you browse the Site.

We do not alter the Site's data collection and use practices when we see a Do Not Track signal from your browser.

3. Information You Voluntarily Supply

If you contact us using the links on the Contact Us page of the Site, we will record your name, email address, the message content including any attachments and—if you supply one—your telephone number.

If you provide a mobile telephone number and consent to receive texts from us, may use SMS to communicate with you about services, payments, account matters, or other services you request. Message and data rates may apply. You may opt out of non-emergency texts by replying STOP, and you may request help by replying HELP to any text or by contacting us directly.

If you attach photographs or other files to any message you send, they are uploaded to our webhost temporarily before being transmitted unencrypted, along with your message. Temporary uploads expire after one hour and are removed from our webhost after sending.

4. How We Use Your Information

We use the Device Information that we collect (in particular, your IP address) to help us screen for potential risk and fraud. We also use Google Analytics to help us understand how visitors use the Site and to gauge the usefulness of our social media link presence, based on traffic to and from those sites.

You can read more about how Google uses your Personal Information here. You can also opt out of Google Analytics here.

5. Changes

We may amend this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes to our practices or for other operational, legal, or regulatory reasons. This Privacy Policy was last updated on October 17, 2026.

6. Jurisdiction

These Terms of Use shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Florida.
